Greco-Turkish Aid Bill Comes Under Attack

Debate Opens In House On Measure Proposed By President Truman

PROPOSALS GET EARLY CRITICISM (BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(INS)—The 400 million dollar Greco-Turkish aid bill cleared its first hurdle in the house today.

Backers of the measure successfully put through a resolution to debate the "stop Communism" measure for nine hours and then begin balloting on amendments to the history-making legislation.

The vote was 168 to 22. The test ballot came on adoption of a "rule" authorizing House consideration of the aid program and limiting the time of debate.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(INS)—Rep. Brown (R) Ohio declared today that enactment of the Greco-Turkish aid bill would "drive a dagger into the very heart of the United Nations" and "make certain of its death."

Brown told the House in opening debate on President Truman's 400-million dollar "stop communism" program that the proposal should be placed before the U. N. to "test the sincerity of Russia."

To Test Russia
The Ohio congressman said that he will offer an amendment to the bill to refer the entire program to the U. N. He declared:

"Let us test the sincerity of Russia. Let her join with the rest of the peace-loving nations of the earth in making the United Nations work in preserving peace and in protecting the territorial and political integrity of the weak."

Although Monday's weather more nearly called for fireside parties many homeowners throughout the city were ardently engaged in lawn mowing during the day. The damp weather has caused the grass to grow most profusely.

More renovations are under way in the downtown area of the city. The work is making decided improvements in the appearance of the business section of New Castle.

Park benches about the city which were occupied for the past number of days, were all deserted on Monday. Although waste receptacles have been placed at strategic areas near the city parks, much refuse including bottles and papers are deposited on the grass near the benches, by unthinking individuals.

Father Holds New Hope Missing Daughter Alive

FORT ATKINSON, Wis., May 6.—(INS)—New hope that his daughter still lives was held today by the father of missing 8-year-old Georgia Jean Weckler.

George C. Weckler, a well-to-do Fort Atkinson farmer, revealed that new developments gave him increased hope.

However, he refused to elaborate on the nature of the developments, and Sheriff George Perry declared that no new leads had been reported to him.

Missing Since Thursday
Georgia Jean has been missing since last Thursday afternoon.

Authorities have said they were convinced she was kidnapped. They were pessimistic about the chances of finding the pretty blond child alive.

The search was turned to the Wisconsin lakes region and officials said closed summer cottages would be included in the hunt.

A new search of silos, barns and haymows in the area around the Weckler farm also was ordered.

Authorities expressed fear that the abductor has killed the third (Continued on Page Two)

Gen. Kesselring Is Found Guilty

German Field Marshal Sentenced To Die Before
Firing Squad

FOUND GUILTY IN CAVES MASSACRE

VENICE, May 6.—(INS)—German Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring was found guilty today by a British military court of responsibility for the Ardeatine Caves massacres of 335 Italians and sentenced to death.

Kesselring will die before a firing squad.

The former German commander in chief in Italy also was convicted on a charge of inciting and ordering his troops to brutalities and atrocities toward Italian civilians contrary to the practices of war.

The prosecution had presented evidence that Kesselring was responsible for the reprisal slayings of 1,413 persons.

Kesselring, who went on trial February 17, offered the defense that he was carrying out the orders of superiors and that his acts came within the military code.

Two other German officers previously had been sentenced to death for their share in the Rome massacre on March 24, 1944.

State Department Seeks To Combat Slashes Of Funds

Hopes To Provide Funds For International Information Plan Continuance

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(INS)—State Department officials today mapped strategy whereby they might overcome the blow struck to their international information program by action of the House Appropriations Committee.

Two plans of action were advanced. They were:
1. Efforts to have the Senate restore to the appropriation bill funds needed to maintain the "Voice of America," carrying American views overseas—when the State Department supply bill for the fiscal year 1948 reaches the upper chamber.

2. Seek speedy passage of a bill to authorize the continuance of the war-developed program to the rest of the world.

The State Department appropriation bill was reported out by the House Appropriations Committee yesterday. The committee pared to the bone the budget request for an allowance to maintain the United States' radio propaganda broadcasts overseas.

Second Effort To Electrocute Youth Scheduled Friday

ST. MARTINVILLE, La., May 6.—(INS)—Willie Francis, 19-year-old Louisiana negro who once escaped death in the electric chair, today faced execution Friday.

District Judge James D. Simon denied a motion for a stay of execution and retrial for the convicted murderer of a St. Martinville druggist. Judge Simon said that the motion should have been made prior to the passing of the sentence.

Since the failure of the mechanism on Francis' first execution date a year ago, the Louisiana Supreme Court and then the United States Supreme Court has refused to halt electrocution.

United Nations Striking Force Not War Calibre

Gen. McNarney Says Force
Couldn't Be Large Enough To Defeat War Aggressor

GIVES INTERVIEW ON POSSIBILITIES (BULLETIN)

NEW YORK, May 6.—(INS)—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney warned today that the striking force planned by the United Nations security council never can be large enough to defeat any major nation that has embarked upon an aggressive war.

In his first major news conference since appointment as United States air force representative to the U. N. military staff committee, the former American commanding general in Europe said:

"Any major power that starts a war automatically has withdrawn its strength from that of the United Nations."

Would Be Insufficient
"Thus the pooled remainder would be insufficient to act against it."

"The function of the United Nations armed force will be to isolate any 'hot spot' that might develop throughout the world."

"If such a force had existed when Nazi Germany marched into Austria—that 'hot spot' would have been isolated."

"And there would have been no second world war."

Gen. McNarney expressed firm belief that with organization of the United Nations "the peoples of the world at last have started on the road toward the peace and security that they so earnestly desire."

He added:

Hirohito Makes Fourth Visit To Gen. MacArthur

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

TOKYO, May 6.—Emperor Hirohito paid his fourth personal call on Gen. Douglas MacArthur today and received from the supreme allied commander a verbal guarantee that disarmed Japan would be protected against any future aggressor.

The five-star general assured the emperor that he, MacArthur, would work as hard to defend Japan as he would to defend the safety of America itself.

During his visit with MacArthur at the latter's official residence in Tokyo's American embassy building, International News Service learned, the emperor expressed himself as particularly worried about Japan's safety.

This concern stemmed from Japan's renunciation and outlawing of war in her new democratic constitution.

Fate Of Ramadier's Government Will Soon Be Decided

Members Of Socialist National Council Are Summoned To Make Decision

PARIS, May 6.—(INS)—The fate of Premier Paul Ramadier's coalition government was placed today in the hands of members of the Socialist National Council summoned to an urgent meeting from all parts of France and North Africa.

The territorial delegates, cabinet ministers and deputies will decide whether to permit Ramadier to head the government or order him to resign in accord with a previous council decision not to serve in a government without the Communists.

Ramadier, backed by the Socialist deputies, ousted the five Communist ministers when the Leftist Deputies in the National Assembly bailed solidly against him in a vote of confidence on his economic policies.

Conservative elements within the Council led by elder statesman Leon Blum will urge that the Socialists permit Ramadier to continue at the head of the government.

Admiral King Opposes Merger

Testifies Against Proposal For Unifying United States Armed Services

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(INS)—Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King today opposed President Truman's proposal to unify the army services.

The nation's wartime naval commander told the senate armed services committee that the proposal to place three departments under a single cabinet secretary "puts the cart before the horse."

King urged instead that such wartime agencies as war production board, war shipping administration and defense transportation administration be continued in peacetime form.

The admiral would have those bureaus participate with the armed services and the president, as ex-officio chairman, in a national defense council.

Instead of the proposed national defense secretary, King would give the job of coordinating military and civilian efforts to a "deputy chairman" named by the council.

At the same time, the wartime naval officer advocated continuation of selective service and universal military service to maintain a pool of manpower for defense.

Ex-Congressman's Son Linked With Garsson Empire

By CHARLES B. SEIB
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Testimony linking a son of ex-Congressman May (D) Ky., directly to the Garsson war contracts empire resulted today in vigorous cross-examination of a government "surprise witness" at the May-Garsson conspiracy trial.

The witness, Melville P. Rapp of New York, and formerly of Miami, has told the jury that in 1944 May's son Robert was assigned half of the profits made by a holder of a Garsson munitions combine sub-contract.

Rapp was put on the stand by special prosecutor William A. Paisley as part of the government's case against May senior and officials of the Garsson combine, which he is alleged to have served for pay.

Mostly Exerting Pressure
The services May is said to have rendered consisted mostly of pressuring.

Another important development also pointed to an early end of the communications tie-up launched April 7 by 39 affiliates of the NPTW.

In St. Paul, Minn., an agreement was announced between NPTW unions and the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co., giving an average $3.60 weekly across-the-board wage increase to 17,500 workers.

The pay raise was made effective immediately in a new contract running until March 31, 1948. Northwestern Bell operates in Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska and Iowa.

Previously, two NPTW unions in Chicago and four independent unions in New York had settled for a $4 weekly increase. The NPTW has been demanding a $6 weekly raise.

Lewis, accompanied by other United Mine Workers officials, met with 19 representatives of the operators, including the Southern Coal Operators Association.

The refusal of the southern operators to commit themselves on Lewis' demands for nationwide bargaining resulted in the breaking up of the initial negotiating session last week.

A coal mines administration spokesman said the week's delay had given the southern operators group an opportunity to reconsider its position.

The recess also allowed northern operators owning some southern properties to consider the possibility of bargaining for all mines at the same time.

Marshall Warns Against Rejection Of Italian Treaty

Says Rejection Of Negotiated Treaty Would Be Blow To Further
Treaties

TESTIFIES BEFORE SENATE COMMITTEE (BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(INS)—Secretary of State Marshall declared today that if the Senate fails to ratify the Italian and Balkan peace treaties "the world will lose all confidence in our proposals and our leadership."

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(INS)—Secretary of State Marshall told the Senate today that if the Italian and Balkan peace treaties are "suspended or rejected" he will not know how to negotiate on the vital Austrian and German pacts.

The secretary warned the Senate Foreign Relations committee that delay or rejection of the satellite treaties would make completion of the Austrian and German agreements "much more difficult if not impossible."

He said:
"My own view is that if we fail to ratify these treaties, the whole situation dissolves. We will have begun what we did in 1920 and 1921. The world will lose all confidence in our proposals and our leadership. I don't think we can afford that."

Rebuttal Witnesses
Marshall and former Secretary James F. Byrnes appeared as rebuttal witnesses to answer charges that the Italian treaty in particular was unfair, unjust and a threat to world peace.

The former army chief declared that since the Moscow foreign ministers conference his feeling is "more emphatic" that the four treaties should be ratified "as quickly as possible."

Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., committee chairman, asked the pointed question on what effect delay or rejection of the Italian, Bulgarian, (Continued on Page Two)

Identify Leader Of Fortress Attack

JERUSALEM, May 6.—(INS)—The leader of the Palestine underground attack on Acre Fortress which resulted in the mass jailbreak of Jewish and Arab prisoners was identified today as a former British commando.

Reliable Jewish sources in Tel Aviv said the leader was Sgt. Dov. Bernard Cohen, who served during the war with the daring British assault units.

Cohen was among the six underground attackers killed by Fortress guards during the Sunday battle at Acre. He was buried yesterday in a seashore village six miles from Acre.

WOULD COMBINE PEACE DAYS AND MEMORIAL DAY

HARRISBURG, May 6.—(INS)—The state Veterans of Foreign Wars today took under advisement an Allegheny post's recommendation that memorial services for the nation's war dead be combined and held on "Peace Day."

October 15 was suggested as the proper day for the observance of Armistice Day, V-E Day and V-J Day, the VFW added.

The resolution will be considered during the annual summer encampment at Harrisburg, the VFW added.

sure on army officials for favorable action on Garsson war contracts. May's prestige as chairman of the house military affairs committee is alleged to have helped the Garsson empire's rise from a "shoestring" operation to 16 firms with 78 million dollars in war contracts.

When the defense concludes its cross-examination of Rapp, more witnesses in connection with the Miami deal are expected to take the stand. Then the scene is scheduled to shift back to Washington, with high war department "brass" as witnesses.

Secretary of War Patterson and General Dwight Eisenhower have been mentioned frequently as possible government witnesses. Both figure in the "overt acts" listed in the indictment under which May, the Garsson brothers and Joseph Freeman, Garsson Washington agent, are on trial.

Other high officials and members of congress are also expected to be called before the trial is over. However, both sides have been directed by Judge Henry A. Schweinhaut to avoid calling unnecessary witnesses.

Charge Youth In Assault Case Changed Stories

Trial May Extend Into Night Session To Allow Presentation Of All Witnesses

ANN ARBOR, Mich., May 6.—(INS)—Twenty-one-year-old Glenn A. Whittle, Jr., of Chicago, was accused today of changing his story "several times" when charged with criminally assaulting a former U. of Michigan coed.

State Trooper Jasper Brouwers testified in the Ann Arbor circuit court that under police questioning Whittle denied having had any relations with 19-year-old Patricia Ann Brighton.

The Dearborn Mich., blonde claims that the Chicago physical education student criminally assaulted her following a private party on Jan. 16.

Brouwers said that Whittle denied having stopped his car during the drive to the girl's residence.

According to the patrolman, the former student then claimed a second couple accompanied them on the drive. When faced with the other couple in the police station, Brouwers said, Whittle quickly stated:

"Tell them you were with me last night and everything will be all right."

According to Brouwers, the other couple answered:

"No, we were not with you all night long."

Defense Attorney John W. Rae protested that Whittle was not advised of his rights to counsel when questioned by Brouwers.

Circuit Court Judge James R. Breaker, Jr., then ruled to admit testimony presented by Whittle during a municipal court examination on Jan. 24. The Chicago defendant then testified that the coed had acceded to intimacies on the night of the alleged attack.

The trial may extend to an evening session to enable the prosecution to present all its witnesses.

HIGHLAND PARK 'ZOO POSSESSES UNUSUAL ZEBRA

PITTSBURGH, May 6.—(INS)—Pittsburgh's Highland Park zoo boasts the only zebra of its kind in the world—where it should be white.

A natural hybrid colt, the animal was captured in northeast Africa when it was about a year and a half old. Zoologists said it was a cross between a grey zebra and a Somali wild ass.

However, the animal failed to solve the old question of the zebra's stripes.

Movie Boosts Safety Program On School Buses

HARRISBURG, May 6.—A new film, "Priceless Cargo," emphasizing the everyday necessity for total safety in the operation of school buses in the Commonwealth, will be shown throughout Pennsylvania during the coming months, Dr. Francis P. Haas, Superintendent of Public Instruction, announced today.

In Pennsylvania 300,000 children ride in 4,500 school bus coaches.

Raymond W. Robinson, chief of consolidation and transportation, has reported to Dr. Haas that about 11 per cent of the present buses operated by Pennsylvania's school districts, either directly or by contract, are in need of replacement with the replacement possibilities being presently "unpredictable," because of the steel shortage.

FATHER HOLDS NEW BOY MISSING DAUGHTER ALIVE

grade pupil by this time because he was afraid to return her after such a lengthy disappearance.

Reveals Increased Hopes

The father revealed his increased hopes last night after an impassioned radio appeal for her safe return.

In a voice frequently choked with sobs, Weckler declared that the health of his wife and of his 86-year-old father depended on the child's safety.

He recalled the last time he saw her and what a good youngster she was. The distraught father said: "We just pray that whoever has our girl will have enough conscience to bring her back safely."

Rewards offered for Georgia Jean's return or information to her whereabouts were increased to nearly $7,500.

The Chicago radio station (WLS) which broadcast the father's appeal added $2,500 to the fund, and neighbors continued to solicit reward money.

LESSON FROM MAY DAY

May Day has been an occasion for the followers of Karl Marx to celebrate and show their strength since 1889, when the International Socialist Congress designated it as a labor holiday. Often in the ensuing years it has produced disorder and rioting. This year it was observed in many countries but generally the demonstrations and parades went off quietly. In New York City, hotbed of communism in the United States, 28,000 (police figures) or 80,000 (communist figures) paraded.

But the absence of violence testifies to the might of Marxism in the world today rather than to its weakness. For example, the celebration in Moscow was as devoid of untoward incidents as anyone could wish—but the reason for the order that prevailed is that a man would take his life in his hands to challenge communism in that stronghold. Nor is Moscow the only capital where May Day was peaceful for the same reason.

There was a significant statement in the Russian Order of the Day, broadcast over the Moscow radio. It said that Russia's efforts toward a "lasting, democratic peace" are meeting the approval and support of the progressive forces of the entire world. By "progressive forces" the Russians mean communists or fellow-travelers, of course, but it would be a mistake to deny their existence or their influence. It is true that the political religion of Kard Marx has won millions of converts and millions more who are sympathetic toward it.

May Day should be instructive to those who are willing to consider its implications. The spectacle in Moscow is evidence of where Marxism leads—to submergence of the individual, to the all-powerful state, to the dictatorship of the few over the many. Calm or otherwise, this socialist festival each year teaches a lesson that those who love liberty dare not misread.

A ROW OF ASPARAGUS

Gardeners, like most people, will agree that there is a great deal of truth in the saying that anticipation is better than realization. But gardeners who grow vegetables are inclined to be practical people who find it hard to get along solely on anticipation. It is for this reason that every home plot for "truck" should have an asparagus row or two.

Right now, it should be explained, the spears of asparagus are thrusting upward through the brown earth. So it is that very shortly one of the most delectable of vegetables will be gracing a slice of toast on the dinner plate. And this at a time when the garden is mostly promise mixed with headache. It will be weeks before there will be any harvesting to be done except from the asparagus row.

But there is plenty of work at hand. Spading and planting is behind schedule, as usual, and the gardener must do his best to catch up. If his carrots and beets are not in, they ought to be, plus cabbage plants as well. And soon it will be time to set out tomatoes, get in beans and lima beans and corn and peppers and all the rest. All together, it is quite a strain on the anticipation.

So a little realization comes in very nicely and asparagus takes care of it perfectly. The kind that comes out of the garden doesn't need to be tricked out with Hollandaise sauce or cheese or even cream. It is an amazing stimulant to revive a gardener's drooping ambition, and those whose taste does not run to asparagus can throw it on a heap and make a bonfire of it after it has dried thoroughly.

RETREAT FROM FURY

Drama critics for newspapers frequently receive scathing denunciations from scalded actors and actresses, but now things are really getting serious. A critic in Paris by the name of Roger Dornes has been challenged to a duel—"pistols at dawn"—by an actress, of all things, who said she had been pierced to the quick by one of Dornes' barbs.

Dornes quite appropriately declined to accept the challenge, although it might have brought him lasting fame as the first man in France ever to fight a duel with a woman. But the repercussions may be heard over and above footlights for years to come.

The American way has been to issue statements, pay for advertisements in the papers, or even slug it out with the critic in a night club where other scribes would be sure to see it. The slugging matches, of course, always involved male critics and actors—with the victim usually held by several of the aggrieved thespian's friends—although there may have been rare instances in which an offended lady has pulled hair.

But if actors and actresses in this country adopt the tactics of the volatile miss from Poree there may be wholesale resignations from theatrical staffs on newspapers, or fervent pleas for some quiet duty—say on the police beat.

War spirit of the Russians was stirred by military spectacles and speeches in Moscow May 1. Have the Russians forgotten similar demonstrations staged by Hitler in Germany prior to 1939?

Bible Thought

I am the living bread which came down from heaven; if any man eat of this bread, he shall live forever; and the bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world, John 6:51.

Washington Calling

Labor Bill Presents Problem To Truman

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The cloud on Mr. Truman's springtime horizon is the labor bill which is shaping up in Congress. At the moment it has a dark and threatening look, as though it might be charged with political thunder and lightning of the most perilous sort. Those in Congress who oppose a "strengthened" Senate bill are using the argument that the President will certainly veto a measure which goes beyond the moderate reforms he seeks. Within the President's inner council, however, a quite different viewpoint has been urged by at least one adviser.

Political Squeeze Play
The viewpoint is as follows. In the very nature of the political squeeze play being put on the White House, the President must sign almost any bill which comes to him from Capitol Hill. If he vetoes an omnibus bill because it contains provisions he believes are too harsh, and as a consequence no legislation is adopted, then the Republicans will put the blame for this failure on the chief executive. It will become the principal issue of the 1948 campaign.

The timing is of the utmost importance. A labor bill will probably reach the President's desk before June 30. In short, the President will have to make his decision before the date on which John L. Lewis is expected to call a nationwide coal strike.

Veto Consequences
White House strategists readily foresee the consequences of a veto. Since the mines would be back in the hands of the private owners, the government would not have the power it exercised last winter to stop the strike by injunction. That injunction was obtained on the ground that the strike was against the government, since the mines were being operated by the Department of Interior.

With no means to stop him, the government might sit for weeks while the obdurate Lewis kept the mines closed down. This grim picture needs little amplification. (Continued on Next Page)

WHO SUPPLIES BRIDES' FURNISHINGS

Question: My fiancé has purchased a new home for us (who will be married very soon). It has been completely furnished by his family and mine with the exception of cooking utensils and linens. Who should supply these?

Answer: The bride or her family should supply these items. Question: This year we will have a Junior-Senior Prom. I have been going with a boy for some time and wondered if I might take him as my escort. Is it correct for me to ask him or should I just tell about the Prom and wait for him to ask me?

Answer: You may properly ask him to go with you. You should buy the tickets and pay for them. Don't ask him to go and expect him to buy the tickets. If he insists on paying for them, let him do so. Of course, he should pay for the transportation and everything else incidental to the evening.

Question: Is it proper for a mother to give her daughter a baby shower?

Answer: No. Showers should be given by those outside of the family.

Question: When a woman, passing the table of another woman in a restaurant, stops to speak, should the one seated rise?

Answer: She should remain seated, unless she is very young and the visitor elderly. If there are men at the table, they, of course, should rise and remain standing until the visitor, whether young or old, leaves or sits down.

Question: Must the best man send an individual gift to the bride or may he contribute toward a joint gift from his family?

Answer: He should send an individual gift to the bride.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly mail answers to questions from readers in enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope.

CANCER

Although cancer may occur at any age it seems to be more common in older people.

It may be located in any part of the body.

In women, the breast is a frequent location. Any lump or unusual appearance should be investigated.

Cancer is often found in the mouth and throat. It seems to occur often in smokers than in those who have never used tobacco.

Cancer seems to be on the increase. Perhaps it is because we have more older people than formerly.

There are many voluntary societies and organizations for the study and investigation of cancer. These efforts are helping to bring the subject before the people.

Perhaps some day we will find the cause of cancer.

"Cradle Type"

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

RAISING AN ADOPTED CHILD
With parents who have adopted a child, certain peculiar problems arise or certain problems common to real parents may grow unusually large.

In the first place, practically all adoptive parents are extremely eager to succeed with the child and this eagerness is enhanced by what the relatives and friends say or are supposed to think.

Adoptive parents are inclined to lavish many material things upon the child and not to discipline him as they know they should, for fear of certain disapprovals.

The Biggest Problem
Perhaps the biggest problem adoptive parents have with themselves is to keep out of their heads the myth that the adopted child's behavior, when it doesn't suit them, has been inherited from the real parents. Of course, if he develops to their liking and acquires traits of which they are very proud, they are sure they are wholly responsible. But if he should become stubborn, disobedient, or unmanageable the old myth of inheritance rises to haunt these adoptive parents.

Now every child inherits a physical body with its brain and nerves, with a certain degree of muscular and nervous coordination favorable or unfavorable to his degree of poise or of instability. Yet even these factors can grow chiefly out of his experience and upbringing. But whether he obeys or disobeys, is unselfish or selfish, mannerly or boorish, cooperative or stubborn, and the like, he is almost solely dependent on his training. Though if he has been adopted after he is several years of age his retraining may be difficult, but it is, with sufficient parental skill, possible.

Parents who have adopted children known to have a sound physical background and at least average intellectual background would be wise to assume sole responsibility for the way this child behaves at two, eight or fifteen, just as if he had been of their own flesh and blood.

I know it is very comforting to the adoptive parents to shift any blame onto inheritance, it is a childish and cowardly way of trying to escape responsibility. They don't have conclusive scientific evidence in support of their escape.

Capacity To Learn
Of any child the probable native capacity to learn from books can be ascertained to some degree through a check (as by the welfare agency) on the general intelligence of the real parents. If the child at adoption is about two or older, the placing agency can, through its psychologist, acquire considerable information about the child's learning capacity.

From Me To You

By MESEFEALL

It's another one of those days . . . dark and rainy . . . doesn't do much to make one happy and smiling . . . but we can't let the weather keep our smiles from appearing . . . it might take more effort to smile but then it isn't very expensive and not one person is so broke they cannot afford one smile.

They again, what we are about to say, might not rate a smile . . . but it will for a moment take your mind away from your own troubles . . . and make you so disgusted with what you read that before long you will be smiling to yourself and saying "It won't be long until that guy cracks up."

There are many books about telling of the habits of various animals . . . most all authorities agree that all animals in the wild state have a great tendency to play . . . play is natural, a native urge in every rabbit or fox or coon that was ever born . . . it is reported to pervade even the unheated blood of the fish in the country creek . . . wonderful isn't it.

And there is a "but" to the thought as in almost everything these days . . . think carefully now . . . is the following statement true or not . . . It is rare to find a spontaneous outburst of playfulness among vice-presidents of banks. It is not common for a statesman, stepping out doors for a breath of May morning, permits himself any such natural gesture of life-affirmation as a high kick or an exuberant roll in the grass.

But talking of high kicks . . . there is one chap in New Castle who can kick high . . . he can kick an object higher than his head and he's no spring chicken either . . . but a man who has had the sense through the years to keep fit . . . if you don't believe . . . just stop Delace Cole some day and offer to make it worth his while . . . Too bad some of the rest of us can't see the value in keeping trim through the years.

And then a chap came back with this comment . . . I get no kick from buying luxuries I can't afford . . . a different vein of life, but interesting.

The keynote of all good letter-writing is simplicity. Do not use flowery language, but write as you talk, without effusion or affectation.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

The names of two streets in a subdivision of Cincinnati will have to be changed if the builders expect to sell any houses to war veterans, and a petition to that effect has been submitted to the City Council for action.

The present names of the thoroughfares are Okinawa and Salerno streets, and, according to real estate agents, veterans do not want to live where they are constantly reminded of the war.

There seems to be a mistaken idea among a good many people that they are doing our veterans a favor by treating them as something set apart from the rest of the population.

I have found that the only ones who cling to their war memories and their war honors are those who may have worn uniforms but who faced most of the dangers of war in comfortable swivel chairs or on de luxe assignments.

That sort of people uses its badges and its discharge buttons as an alibi.

I just heard—and from a good authority—of one of the most disgusting rackets that has ever come to my attention.

An obscure magazine, I am informed, has got together a crew of canvassers who solicit subscriptions on the strength of their war service and tell unwary victims that they need the money to go to a sanitarium.

None of these fellows, I am told, have had overseas service but simply cash in on the patriotism and charity of those whom they victimize.

A still dirtier racket practiced by and outfit that has induced quite a number of crippled veterans to act as salesmen.

These men go around in rickety old wheelchairs, held together by ropes and slats, and peddle their wares.

They need their commissions to buy new wheelchairs, they tell their prospects, who are mostly housewives, and show them the bad condition of their present chairs are in.

I don't criticize the poor fellows, who probably have tried hard to get decent jobs and have been turned down on account of their physical handicap.

But I do think that their employers are despicable creatures and I hope that everyone who reads this will be on the lookout for these vile rackets.

Most of the veterans to whom I have talked consider the war an unpleasant duty faithfully performed. They want to forget about it and return to their normal civilian status.

America has never been a warring nation. Our way of life is not the swashbuckling rattling of swords but the way of minding our own business and looking after our home and our families.

To name streets after battlefields, to use heroism and innate bravery as a bait is a trick that is bound to fail.

The only people who will want to live on Okinawa street are those who had a taste to fight at Okinawa but turned it down.

The World and the Mud Puddles

TWO GREAT EVILS

One thing the Congress should endeavor to correct in their labor legislation is the removing of the evils of the "hot cargo" or "hot cargo" boycotts. The "hot cargo" and secondary boycott are very great. They bring loss and unemployment to farmers, industry and the consuming public. They inflict hardships upon persons in no wise concerned in labor disputes.

"Hot Cargo" Tactics
There have been many instances where millions of dollars' worth of fruit and vegetable crops were ruined by "hot cargo" tactics—with union canners workers idle for months. There have been thousands of gallons of precious milk dumped into sewers. Restaurants have been closed and their employees made idle. Construction projects have been delayed. Retail businesses of large cities have been paralyzed and the food supplies of its citizens jeopardized. Even Dave Beck, the West Coast head of the International Teamsters' Union very seriously denounced the "hot cargo" and secondary boycott where these two clubs of the Union attempted to be utilized in the City of Oakland, California.

Exemplify Tyranny
These two weapons of organized labor exemplify a tyranny and contempt for public interest as menacing as any alien dictatorship. They have no place in a free economy. To argue that they represent a sacred "right" of labor is to argue that labor has a right to impose hardship, suffering and loss upon an entire community. If Unions have a sacred "right" to cause destruction of farm and dairy production running into millions of dollars then union arsonists have a sacred "right" to burn homes and factories.

Congress Faces Huge Log Jam Of Bills Political Plum Orchard May Be Blighted "Red" Is Now Ticklish Terminology

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON, May 6.—All indications are that Congress is heading into a tight log jam on legislation as June 30 approaches. It may be more difficult to break than in the past.

Appropriation bills of, of course, form the chief difficulty. Not a single major one of these supply bills, required to furnish funds for government operations in the fiscal year beginning July 1 has been passed. This is most unusual for this time of the year.

Only the 12 billion 500 million dollar Treasury-Post Office bill and the one billion 685 million dollar Labor-Federal Security measure have passed the House. They are held up in the Senate. Two minor deficiency bills have become law.

The House still must act on the huge military bills for the War and Navy Departments. A half dozen lesser ones await action. Other "must" legislation includes the extension of rent controls and of the RFC. The former has been reported out by House and Senate committees but it faces a hard floor fight.

While almost two and one-half months remain and Congress has shown an ability to act quickly when necessary, several highly controversial measures are certain to bring out strong partisan debate and threaten long delays.

SENATOR JOSEPH R. MCCARTHY (R), Wis., is ready to throw a blight over Uncle Sam's traditional political plum orchard in the belief it is one way to economy. The Wisconsin freshman exploded figuratively when a witness before the Senate executive expenditures committee testified that a half million dollars could be saved annually if politically appointed collectors of customs could be lopped off the federal payroll. The witness, H. F. Morley, president and lobbyist for the customs employees' National Customs Service, described the collectors as "fifth wheels" which would not be missed.

McCarthy suggested that looking over the political plum tree appeared a lucrative source for federal economy, particularly if so much could be saved in a minor bureau. He was seconded by Senator Edward J. Tamm (R), Minn.

Worley testified that some political appointees with salaries ranging up to $12,000 yearly seldom visit their desks, letting deputies who are career men, run their offices. He promised to furnish the committee with a list of names of appointees as well as a record of their attendance.

ALTHOUGH THE SLEDDING LOOKS TOUGH, Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R), Mass., long-time friend of the veterans of both wars, plans to push again for enactment of her bill to create a cabinet post to head the Veterans Administration.

The motherly widow of a former representative heads the veterans affairs committee of the House this term, however, and is in a better position to get the bill out of committee than at the last session when the Democrats controlled.

Mrs. Rogers argues that a cabinet member charged with veterans matters would have the ear of the president more readily than a lesser official. And he might, too, she contends, by his position, be able to help in preventing another war.

TIME WAS WHEN THE WORD "RED" simply implied a color which might have a variety of shades. Today its new connotation sometimes causes official embarrassment.

When a group of newsmen went on a junket to Atlantic fleet maneuvers, a briefing officer described a Marine amphibious problem where the assault forces were to land on a small island held by an imaginary enemy. Following the practice since the days of George Washington, he described the landing force as "Blue," the enemy as "Red."

A reporter, sending his dispatch, used the same wording. His copy came back from the bridge with "red" scratched out and the notation, "Please just say 'enemy'."

By J. C. Ostreicher, INS Foreign Director

A momentous test of Twentieth-Century legality as applied to responsibility for aggressive warfare was under way in the grim old Palace of Justice at Nuremberg.

In the prisoners' dock which once held Goering, Ribbentrop, Keitel and Hess sat 24 glum members of what was once probably the greatest industrial combine in the history of the world.

They were former directors of the German I.G. Farbenindustrie, the fantastically wealthy organization which embraced a jungle of chemical factories, poison gas plants, rambling powerhouses used to make synthetic fuel and all the vast machinery that turned out ersatz coffee, food, clothing and soap.

Responsible For War
It is the prosecution's claim that these 24 men, far more than belching, riotous Nazi gangsters, were responsible for preparing the war that Adolf Hitler visited upon the world.

The I. G. Farben case is unique in history. It differs even from the trial of the Flick armament interests. For there were armaments men and financiers tried by the first international military tribunal at Nuremberg.

The present case, however, is designed to prove that anyone directly concerned in the network of meticulous preparations involved in preparing a nation for war, stands equally guilty with a general or field marshal who ordered atrocities against prisoners or any other violation of warfare's rules.

There will be many points of keen interest and great importance to judicial proceedings arising during the course of the current trials.

WASHINGTON CALLING

time, steel plants would also close and once again we would have the spectacle of a standstill at the behest of one man.

Can Imagine Clamor

The clamor that would arise in the country can easily be imagined. The Republicans would be in splendid position to point the finger of blame at the Democratic President who had vetoed the labor bill. To put it mildly, Mr. Truman would be on an extremely embarrassing spot.

All this has been pointed out, and more, too. The President has been told that he could sign the bill and issue an accompanying statement which would make it clear that he had done so sorrowfully and reluctantly because the Congress had given him no other choice; that without the power to veto individual items he was compelled to take the good with the bad. Such a measure would not be difficult to draft since it would have a lot of logic behind it.

No Decision Yet

Of course, no final decision has been taken in the White House, nor is one likely to be taken before the bill is passed. It will of necessity be given the closest study before any irrevocable step is taken.

Politics in this business of corrective labor legislation was probably inevitable. But it will hardly contribute to industrial peace if the campaign of 1948 is centered on charges and counter-charges over labor.

That, however, is the prospect. Among Democratic advisers are those who point out that the political power of organized labor is on the wane in any event. Furthermore, it is argued that the chief business of blame would not fall on the President if he made it clear that he was acting with great reluctance in the face of a compelling necessity.

At one point, the Republicans believed they would be able to make effective use next year of the communism charge against the Truman administration. A series of full dress hearings had been scheduled before the House un-American committee to show communist influence in the federal government. The President's loyalty order tended to nullify that maneuver. It would be difficult to pin the communist tag on the author of the Truman doctrine.

So perhaps "labor"—the labor monopoly, union bosses, un-curbed union powers—will have to substitute for communism. It is not a cheerful prospect for those who hoped to see an orderly system of voluntary collective bargaining reinforced by moderate reforms.

chemical and other industrial cartels of the world.

Second, that for this purpose the combine encouraged Hitler's rise to power and went far in subsidizing his gangster following.

Third, it was cognizant from the remotest beginnings that all of its activities were aimed at aggressive warfare.

Fourth, its agents were deeply involved in slave labor and looting. Taylor's belief in the strength of his case was amply displayed in his opening remarks when he said: "If the guilt of these men is not brought to life, they would create far greater danger to future world peace than Hitler if he were still alive."

ardous to the child and the adopting parents if this child is known to be feeble-minded. Let no one hope to put new brain cells in anybody's head. While the true parent might have a struggle to accept her own child as he is, if he is found to be mentally handicapped, it is far harder for the adoptive parent to do so.

It's amazing how many adoptive parents still don't tell the child he is adopted, in spite of all the urging by specialists that they tell him. From the time the child can understand just a little, the younger he is the better the time to begin telling him he is adopted, in a calm, matter-of-fact way, and then to keep telling him again and again, so it will soak in gradually. When at three or four the child begins to ask where babies come from, getting over the fact of his adoption can become very effective.

Leetsdale Man To Make Sharon Ambridge Trek Celebrating 60th Birthday

A. P. Bergman, long-distance pedestrian, who visited New Castle last year on his "birthday hike", will pass through the city again on May 10 as he attempts to walk one mile for each year of his life.

Sixty years old on that date, Bergman will trek from Sharon to Ambridge in his annual jaunt. He has been making walking trips for the past 45 years.

Bergman, who hopes to make the journey in 12 hours, will pass through the city at 10:30 a. m. via route 18. This is the second time he has made this trip, the last attempt being in 1936. Last year he covered the distance from Youngstown to Ambridge in 12 hours.

Bergman says the May 10 walk will be a tune-up for his proposed trip to New York or Chicago later on. He holds the record for the fastest time between Pittsburgh and New York (400 miles in six days, 3 hours), Pittsburgh and Chicago (500 miles, 7 days), and Pittsburgh to Philadelphia (300 miles in 5 days).

One of the oldest marathon runners still living, Bergman used to compete in the New Castle to Pittsburgh races and in 1916 covered the 50 miles in second place.

Dodge Is Named To Iron Out Basic Treaty Differences

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(INS)—Secretary of State Marshall today appointed Joseph M. Dodge, prominent Detroit banker, to head the U. S. delegation to the four-power commission which will seek to iron out "basic" differences over the Austrian peace treaty.

Dodge, president and director of the Detroit bank, has been active in governmental circles since before the war. He most recently served as national financial adviser to Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States military governor in Germany.

Dodge will have the diplomatic rank of minister.
The American mission was set up on the last day of the abortive Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Moscow. It will meet in Vienna May 12 to examine the unresolved articles of the Austrian treaty.

Baby Epidemic Death Toll Now Increased To 21

ALLENTOWN, Pa., May 6.—(INS)—Ten-day-old Mary Ann Pleva succumbed to infant diarrhea in Allentown General Hospital today bringing the death toll in the city's current epidemic to 21 babies in the last two months.

The infant had been sent home from Sacred Heart Hospital last Friday, apparently cured, but she suffered a relapse on Sunday.

Meanwhile, three more babies were admitted to the Allentown General, which now has a total of five infants stricken with the malady. Fourteen other babies transferred from the two Allentown hospitals are being treated in Philadelphia hospitals.

The outbreak of the epidemic—worst in recent history—began March 1 when the first death was reported. Within two weeks it spread rapidly to more than a score of infants.

The disease, known as gastro-enteritis, is believed caused by a virus which has not been isolated and is extremely contagious.

Funds Reduction To Severely Cut Culture Program

"Voice Of America" Will Be Discontinued Except To Latin America

MARSHALL FAVORS CONTINUING PLAN

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(INS)—Disregarding the advice of Secretary of State Marshall, the economy-minded House Appropriations Committee recommended today that the "Voice of America" be muted and that all overseas broadcasts and cultural programs be terminated with the exception of those to Latin America.

The committee eliminated entirely the request of the State Department for $31,381,220 for its world-wide information and cultural program and slashed $2,820,000 from the $5,820,000 asked for continuance of the program to Latin America.

If the cut is sustained by Congress, the recently inaugurated broadcasts to the Soviet government will be among those eliminated, along with publication of the monthly magazine "Amerika" in Russia.

The action was taken as Marshall was to meet this afternoon with Congressional and radio leaders in a special conference called in an attempt to save his foreign broadcasting program.

The full committee approved the recommendation of a subcommittee headed by Rep. Steadman (R., Neb.), which heard testimony from Marshall and Secretary of Commerce Harriman strongly urging continuance.

Explains Action
In explaining his subcommittee's action, Stefan stated:

"In the first place, the activity is not authorized by Congress—secondly, it also would seem that a government-sponsored program is slightly out of tune with American precedents and American principles, and even though the news and other programs are as objective as represented, this committee, at least, does not feel that our government should further remain in the news business."

Marshall, in his appearance before the committee, declared that he regarded the program "as an integral and essential part of the conduct of foreign relations."

He agreed with Rep. Gary (D., Va.) that the program was not only desirable, but necessary for a proper understanding of the United States abroad. Asked by Gary whether he thought it was essential to the conduct of our foreign relations, Marshall replied: "Yes, sir. I think the whole matter is an offset to the type of propaganda, newspaper articles, and so forth, that appear in various countries. We have to do something about it."

Harriman Makes Plea
Harriman also made a special plea for the program. He told Stefan's subcommittee that "in our national interest I know of no single service that is more important to the United States than the development of the State Department Information Service."

Assistant Secretary of State Benton, in charge of the information and cultural program, said the "Voice of America" and allied services were about the only way information about the United States could be gotten to Russia and adjacent countries.

Benton emphasized that in many areas of the world private information services are operating "very sketchily, if at all."

The alternatives to the program, the committee stated, are (1) the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (2) encouragement of private enterprise to a greater international activity and (3) greater cooperation between the State Department and private media of information for a proper presentation of American life abroad.

Marshall To Confer
Marshall will confer with House and Senate leaders as well as radio officials to keep alive the program developed under Assistant Secretary of State William Benton. Through the "Voice of the United States" broadcasts, Benton's office now broadcasts in 25 languages—including Russian—to all the world.

The Benton setup was developed after the Office of War Information and the Office of the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs were combined with the State Department. It took over for peace the work these two agencies did during the war.

The program now is being maintained under a nineteen million dollar appropriation provided by Congress last year. The House Appropriations Committee had allotted ten million for the program, but the Senate increased it. New funds now are needed for the 1948 fiscal year beginning July 1.

The House Appropriation Committee was reported ready to ask denial of the appropriation.

Madonna Sodality Crowning-Program

Mothers Feted By Sodality After
May Crowning Ceremonies
At Madonna Church

Madonna Sodality set aside May 4 as their day to honor their mothers—and also to have the crowning of the Blessed Virgin Mary. Sodality and their mothers received holy communion in a body at the 8 o'clock mass. In the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock impressive ceremonies, crowning the statue of the Blessed Virgin Mary took place.

Little Patricia Mehalic was the May queen. Her attendants included Vince Lee Perrotta, Eleanor Lewinski, Elaine Lewinski, Patricia Hnat and Patricia Watrobska.

Sermon Delivered
The litany of the Blessed Virgin Mary was recited, followed by a sermon delivered by Rev. Fr. Francis Kuczyński. His sermon extolled the virtues of the virgin Mary as a true queen and a model mother. He also spoke to the new candidates and of their obligations.

Little Patricia Mehalic crowned the statue of the Blessed Virgin Mary. The presentation and reception of new candidates was held and prefect, Helen Ryczaj, was in charge.

Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament closed the services, and the processional.

Later in the church hall, a Mothers' Day program was held with 150 mothers present. White narcissus bouquets centered the table, with miniature baskets marking places. Fr. Kuczyński presided and spoke to the mothers. Mother's Day songs were sung. Sophie Jendrysk gave the dedication to mother. Stevie Prejsnar and his musicians provided the music.

A delicious lunch was served by the sodality.

The sodality will receive holy communion in a body Sunday, May 11, at 8 o'clock mass, as a spiritual gift for mothers on Mother's Day.

Suggests Liberty Bell Be Taken On Tour Of Nation

Mayor Of Philadelphia Believes It Would Be Good Thing To Show Bell To People

PHILADELPHIA, May 6.—Mayor Bernard Samuel is credited with a suggestion that the historic Liberty Bell be removed from Independence Hall and taken on a nationwide tour so that all Americans might have an opportunity to see the treasured Revolutionary War relic.

The suggestion was advanced, it was learned, in a recent address at the Hotel Adelphia, in which the mayor departed from his prepared speech to say:

"If I had the money, I would send the Liberty Bell to every hamlet, town and city in the United States."

The bell has not been removed from Independence Hall since Oct. 10, 1917, when it was paraded thru Philadelphia streets in a Liberty Loan demonstration.

The last suggestion that the Liberty Bell be removed from Independence Hall came during the New York World's Fair when it was disclosed that the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt had requested that the bell be placed on exhibition at the fair.

Philadelphia civic associations, historical societies and patriotic groups were outspoken in their protests and the request was refused.

The Liberty Bell has made nine trips since it was installed in Independence Hall, then known as the State House, in 1793. In September, 1777, when a British invasion of Philadelphia was imminent, the bell was taken to Allentown and hidden in a church until the following June.

Subsequently, it was on display at six expositions, one patriotic celebration and the Liberty Loan parade.

TWO PLANES ADDED TO CONTEST EXHIBIT

Two more model airplanes have been put on exhibit with the model airplane in the "Small Planes" contest at the public library. They are the work of Robert Montgomery, aged 10, of Montgomery avenue, this city.

Strong Appeal Made To Retain Ellwood Plant

Sam Neff, CIO-USW Official, Takes Issue Before Big Steel Meeting

Samuel G. Neff, CIO Steelworkers representatives of Ellwood City, made a dramatic plea before a meeting of stockholders of the U. S. Steel Corporation in another attempt to save his town from "industrial destruction", on Monday.

Mr. Neff, who spoke before the Big Steel board members in Hoboken, was so forceful in his appeal to keep the National Tube Company industry in Ellwood, that Irving S. Olds, chairman, referred the decision of the transfer to Benjamin Fairless, president of the corporation.

Mr. Neff addressed the stockholders despite explanations by Chairman Olds that the Ellwood City plant was not equipped to make a new product and that its market had moved westward.

President Fairless agreed to meet with Neff and a workers' committee to discuss an appeal for reconsideration.

No definite time for this session was set, however, but it is believed that it will take place during the next visit of the president to Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh Strike Front Quiet Today

PITTSBURGH, May 6.—(INS)—Pittsburgh's strike front remained quiet today with partial tieups in transportation, armored car service and the steel industry.

Drivers of the Brentwood and Ohio river bus lines scheduled new talks with company officials to settle their dispute over wages. The drivers demanded a 25-cent an hour wage boost. The company has offered 10 cents.

No peace move in the six-day strike of Brinks Armored Express was seen likely for several days as conciliation efforts awaited the arrival of company officials from Chicago. W. H. Weaver, Pittsburgh manager, said.

Pittsburgh's strike of 900 taxi drivers and mechanics continued as negotiations in the 25-day walkout bogged down. Drivers have refused to cross picket lines thrown around the Yellow Cab Co. garages where mechanics struck to enforce their demands for $60 a week.

Meanwhile, seven suspended officers of the CIO United Steelworkers local at the Copperweld Steel Co. where 1100 employees struck in protest of their suspension, prepared for a second meeting with CIO President Philip Murray.

The strike leaders have refused to turn over funds and records to an international representative.

Plan To Resume Contest Of Will

Largest Single Case File In Miami History To Resume On May 22

MIAMI, May 6—(INS)—The largest single case file in Miami probate court history was on record Monday as Dade County Judge W. P. Blanton set May 22 for resumption of testimony in the will contest of the late Abram Barker's $777,224 estate.

The court dispute over the will of the Providence, R. I., banker, who died late in 1945, was brought by Brown University and three of Barker's nieces who were named beneficiaries in previous wills but were cut out of the final one.

Most of the estate is scheduled to go to Barker's bookkeeper, Mrs. Wilma Hatch Lee, 44, unless the third will is broken in the current court fight.

Last week's three-day hearing of the long contest by three Fall River, Mass., nieces and the university ended Friday with Judge Blanton setting aside three days beginning May 22 for final summation of the hearing.

The contestants charged that the wealthy New Englander's bookkeeper unduly influenced him to leave his estate to her.

During the three days of court testimony last week, Mrs. Lee denied the accusation and said she had never read his will prior to his death.

She said Barker told her during the last days of his life:

"I'm not going to live long. I'm leaving you all I have."

Mrs. Lee said she was surprised at the statement and did not believe him.

She testified that Barker sometimes referred to her as "the madam" but never regarded her as his wife, as had been charged.

Mrs. Lee was divorced by her husband in 1943. She had been married twice before.

Red Cross Chapter Given Texas City Relief Report

Lawrence County chapter of the American Red Cross has received a report from the Texas City disaster scene revealing the relief operations accomplished by the ARC in that area which illustrates the strong disaster service within the national organization.

The chapters of Galveston, Houston, Port Orange, Beaumont, Houston County and Brazoria County participated in the relief operation. These chapters dispatched 4,000 trained workers to the blast scene to aid in emergency work.

The report shows that more than 650 nurses, mostly volunteers, served with the ARC in caring for the 3,000 injured. There were also 147 regular Red Cross nurses on duty.

Buy Drugs, Equipment
The Red Cross purchased more than $100,000 worth of drugs, surgical instruments and equipment, and hospital supplies. These included more than 2,000,000 units of penicillin (of which one hospital used more than 24,000,000 units in one night), sulfa drugs, gas gangrene anti-toxin, and 200 grams of rare streptomycin, one of the newest drugs discovered.

Shelters were erected by the Red Cross within the area, with 2,000 homeless persons using these facilities the first night of the disaster. Seven canteens were operated during the first days, feeding thousands of the homeless and the rescue workers.

Help In Hospitals
One hundred nurses aides and hospital aides were stationed at the hospitals and morgues to assist families and authorities of the victims. Clothing was also issued in large quantities, the Galveston chapter alone purchasing $20,000 worth of food, clothing and supplies.

Through the Red Cross, in cooperation with the Surgeon General, two leading specialists in the treatment of gas gangrene were flown to the scene.

Despite the confusion surrounding the identification of the dead and injured, thousands of inquiries were handled, the heaviest volume being in the Houston and Galveston areas.

A total of 47 disaster staff workers directed the work of the Red Cross during the crisis with the financial commitments estimated at $200,000 to $250,000 for the organization to date.

Rotary Sees Film Showing Damage To Y Buildings By War

Need For Rebuilding Structures To Provide Christian Ideals Depicted In Picture

Damage wrought to the Y. M. C. A. buildings in foreign lands during the war, and the need for rebuilding these places in order to provide a place where the youth of these lands can spend their idle time in a Christian atmosphere was shown to New Castle Rotary Club members at their meeting in The Castle, Monday noon.

The program was presented by Rotarian Richard E. Rentz, who spoke of the campaign which is now under way here to raise $9,500, payable over a period of three years, as this city's quota in the national campaign to rebuild damaged buildings, rehabilitate Y. M. C. A. personnel, and expand the work in the war-stricken foreign lands.

It was announced by President Carlton G. Ferris that New Castle had been awarded the 1948 district convention at the meeting held in Erie last week.

Plans were announced for Ladies Night, which will take place on Thursday evening, May 22, with Jack Huston as chairman in charge of arrangements.

NOT A SUPERVISOR

Kinsey McKnight, well-known resident of Washington township is not a road supervisor of his township. Furthermore he is not a candidate to be one. But in this column the other day we reported that he was the road supervisor who represented his township in asking for county aid for a road. This because the commissioners insisted upon referring to him as Mr. McKnight. Actually it was Roy Donley who appeared, and Mr. Donley looks something like Mr. McKnight. So now we have it all squared away. Kinsey McKnight is not a road supervisor.

PLANNING CAN PRODUCE MORE, BETTER GRAZING

Milk made on pasture returns the most profit, and with a little planning most pastures could be made to produce several times what they normally do.

Permanent pastures, need lime and superphosphate to bring in which clover and Kentucky bluegrass, and to make them produce. If manure can be applied in addition to these two, the pasture crop will be even greater.

All these should have gone on last fall or winter, but "better late than never". It seldom pays to sow seed on pasture soils unless they are well torn up as well as limed and fertilized.

Where there is little or no permanent pasture, it may be a good plan to let the cows have part of the clover and timothy hay crop. This can be done by driving off about one acre for each two or three cows with temporary fencing. If the hay crop is largely alfalfa or clover, precautions must be taken against bloat.

Bulging Hips Of No Concern To Modern Co-Eds

STATE COLLEGE, May 6.—Bulging hips apparently are of no concern to the college girl of today, who is eating plenty of good food, topped by rich and tasty desserts.

Supervisors of women's dining commons at the Pennsylvania State college agree that coeds not only are eating more, but are eating more sensibly than the coeds of seven or eight years ago.

College girls of pre-war years were diet-conscious and for the most part wanted little more than a snack for lunch. But not any more.

Lunch has become a more balanced and more healthful meal, with bread and butter and a flood of salad dressing. Milk consumption has risen sharply and desserts just aren't complete without a topping of rich chocolate or marshmallow syrup.

Several reasons have been advanced for this sudden taboo on calorie counts. Some say the girls are making up for shortages during the war. Other feel that the coeds finally are heeding the wartime insistence on a healthful, well-balanced diet.

This trend to the contrary, supervisors say the girls still talk about "watching their diets"—even as they pour on the salad dressing or dig into a chunk of rich cake, topped with whipped cream.

Budget Paring Hits Military Research Plans

Warning Issued That Slashes In Funds To Cripple Technical Study

RUSSIANS ALLOT BILLION FOR YEAR

By LEE VAN ATTA
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 6.—America's vital military research and development program is lagging for lack of funds and because of stringent budget trimming.

This was the warning voiced today by senior officers responsible for direction of what many government and military leaders believe is the most important single division of War and Navy Department operations in the post-war period.

It was learned that more than 200 million dollars is expected to be slashed off the research-development program for 1948. The 1947 budget was pared from a proposed $285 million to only 110 million dollars.

High War department officials unofficially called the research and development future "very serious—there isn't a ray of light on the whole horizon."

They were quick to point out that while America trims its long-range experimental budget, the Russians have stepped up their research-development program to a record-breaking one billion dollars annually. (Five billion rubles.)

It was pointed out, however, that it is impossible to place the Soviet budget on an American buying equivalent because of the wide disparity in purchasing power between the United States and the U.S.S.R.

Aviation Research
During Soviet budget hearings last year, Russian finance officials indicated the bulk of their billion-dollar program would be in the aviation and basic research fields.

War department research experts flatly declared that the U. S. was "ten years behind Germany in aeronautical research and development when the war ended." They said:

"We are going to fall even farther behind the rest of the world unless the research-development program is sustained."

They declared that the greater percentage of crack German scientists responsible for Nazism's last-minute guided missile and jet propulsion bid for victory are now at work for Russia.

They added: "The highly specialized knowledge Nazi scientists had is now available in other countries. It is being used."

Cautioning against over-optimism about "Buck Rogers" weapons, research leaders said humanly manned aircraft would be vital combat factors for years to come. When there is a transition to guided missiles it will not be a clearly-defined, overnight change but a slow evolution.

Critical Effect
They explained that the present slashing policy is having a critical effect on long-range test-experiment plans. Contracts cannot be let, production is being held back and industry, fearful of suspended or cancelled contracts, is shying away from military orders.

In the air forces, despite increasing commitments abroad as a result of America's hold-the-line-in-Europe policy, the air plan for maintaining 70-groups as an interim striking force has already been forced down because of lack of funds.

The AAF is now down to a total of 55 groups total for operations in both continental and occupational areas.

Even these are not at full combat strength, however, in either airplanes or personnel.

Both air and ground forces research leaders were emphatic in their declaration that the national defense structure "can absorb as many scientists as we can get—there is no ceiling on the number we can use."

But, they pointed out, the bulk of expense in the experimental program is not in basic research—largely mental endeavor—but in the development field which demands costly production of test models, ranging from comparatively small fighters through the expensive demands of big bombers and high speed transports.

Camei said the army charged that the cigarettes in Donald's possession "was more than a reasonable amount."

Democrats Reel Under Proposed Cut In Budget

State, Commerce, Judiciary Bodies Targets Of House Appropriations Action

SAM FOGG
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The Truman administration on Monday received another blow from House Appropriations Committee as the Republican majority program was revealed on the State and Commerce Departments and the Judiciary.

The request of the Department of Commerce for funds for 1948 was cut 33 per cent; Department of State 21 1/2 per cent; Judiciary 20 per cent. The Department of Justice escaped with a cut of only two and seven-tenths per cent.

The reductions for the new fiscal year beginning July 1 were embodied in a $355,728,008 supply bill for the three departments and the judiciary, representing an over-all reduction of 23 1/2 per cent in the amounts requested. The administration had requested $698,621,523, but the committee slashed this by $163,593,515.

The committee's latest economy slash brought to $1,293,698,692 the reduction so far this year in the House in President Truman's 37 1/2 billion dollar budget for 1948 which the House has promised to cut six billion and the Senate four and a half billion.

Previously, the House made these reductions in appropriations for 1948: Labor Departments and Federal Security Agency, $98,825,320;

Treasury - Postoffice Departments $897,272,750; and Interior Department, $134,006,907.

The Commerce Department received the greatest blow. The committee gave it 191,057,000 of the $286,989,000 it asked for, a cut of $95,932,000.

The following Commerce Department agencies received the largest cuts: Office of the Secretary 43 per cent; Census Bureau 45 per cent; Civil Aeronautics Administration 37 per cent; Civil Aeronautics Board 25 per cent; Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce 40 per cent.

The State Department asked for $279,537,623 and received $219,128,058 a cut of $60,409,565. Its information and cultural program was the hardest hit, all funds being eliminated except for three million dollars for continuance of the program to Latin America.

The Department of Justice got off easy, the committee allowing it $109,097,500 of the $114,470,000 it requested, a cut of only $5,372,500. The FBI received the entire $35 million, it asked for. But the committee cut the $2,500,000 requested for the Anti-Trust Division by $100,000. However, this was an increase of $280,900 in current funds.

The Judiciary was cut from $20,624,900 to $16,446,450, a reduction of $4,178,450.

Missionary To India Addresses Methodist Ministers On Monday

Date Set By Local Methodist Pastors For Annual Picnic At Regular Monthly Meeting

"India Today and Tomorrow" was the timely subject of Dr. Charles F. Lipp, veteran missionary home on furlough from India, as he addressed ministers of the local Methodist churches, Monday afternoon.

Opening their regular monthly meeting with a noon luncheon, the pastors convened in the Pro-Indo room of the Y. M. C. A. for a short business session in charge of the president, Dr. B. R. McKnight, after which the speaker of the hour was introduced.

Program chairman, Rev. Francisco P. Sulmonetti presented Dr. Harold A. McCurdy, district superintendent of the Grove City district, who in turn introduced Dr. Lipp, veteran of some 40 years as a missionary to India.

Dr. Lipp gave his listeners a panorama view of the varied religious social and economic conditions existing in India today and spoke of plans that are underway to utilize many of India's long dormant resources into useful factors. The religious problem was pointed out by the missionary as one of the toughest situations that exists in the country today. Freeing one class of peoples would mean the eventual freeing of others, with many millions ready to turn to Christianity if this were done.

Following the inspirational talk, an open forum took place at which time questions of the pastors were answered by the speaker of the afternoon.

During the business session which preceded the address, the pastors decided to hold their annual picnic on Monday, June 2, at Cascade Park. Arrangements are to be handled by Rev. F. P. Sulmonetti, Rev. Warren A. Bugbee, Rev. Paul Alley. The picnic will be attended by the pastors and their families.

State Seeks To Cut Accidents

Intensive Campaign Is Under Way Designed To Help Reduce Traffic Fatalities

HARRISBURG, May 6.—(INS)—The Commonwealth has begun what appears to be an intensive advertising campaign designed to help reduce the number of traffic fatalities in Pennsylvania. Advertisements have appeared in newspapers throughout the state urging motorists to walk safely and motorists to drive carefully to prevent accidents. The advertisements, signed by Gov. James H. Duff and Revenue Secretary David W. Harris, warn motorists "Pennsylvania will punish traffic violators to the full extent of the law. If at fault in a traffic accident you face loss of your driving privilege . . . heavy fines . . . jail sentences." Prior to assuming office in January, Duff expressed concern about the state's highways death rate and evinced interest in the establishment of a state department of highway safety and motor vehicles.

The Pennsylvania Game News, publication of the state game commission, has reported that the second conservation education laboratory for teachers will be conducted at Pennsylvania State College this summer. The publication said two three-week sessions will be conducted from June 30 to July 19 and from July 21 to August 9.

Many assemblymen have endorsed the idea of establishing a first aid station in the main capitol building. The general assembly has approved a resolution directing the department of property and supplies to establish the aid room. Many lawmakers have said the room has long been needed.

PICKET LINES KEEP OFFICE WORKERS OUT AT AKRON

AKRON, O., May 6.—(INS)—Strong picket lines were maintained at the Goodrich Aircraft Corporation plant in Akron today, resulting in some 1,500 salaried workers being kept from their jobs for the second day.

A meeting between company representatives and officials of the CIO-United Automobile Workers was scheduled for today. No progress was reported at a session yesterday with Federal Labor Conciliators.

Production of 50,000 metal-sealed caskets for the army's overseas war dead was at a standstill because of the strike.

The workers are demanding a pay hike of 11 1/2 cents hourly and "fringe concessions."

Big Harry Boykoff, former St. John's basketball captain who was the greatest scorer in the history of the metropolitan area, has signed to play pro ball with the Toledo League of the National Basketball League.

Rain Playing Havoc With Major League Baseball Schedules

Monday Battles Are Rained Out, Cards Meet Bums

Hope For Fair Weather Today In Brooklyn And Other Ball Parks

PLAYER SHIFTING BY CLUBS START

By LES CONKLIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, May 6.—(INS)—Fair weather—for a welcome change—was on tap for today's game at Ebbets Field between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Brooklyn Dodgers, the first clash of the season between these perennial rivals.

If the feat of the Cardinals in snapping their long losing streak Sunday is a true indication that they finally are on the beam again, the Red Birds have turned the trick just in time. By winning this series from the Cards, the last-place world's champions can cut into the commanding lead which the Dodgers have piled up on them.

Cards Face Hatten

The Cards will have to win the hard way today because southpaw pitcher, their customary poison, will be thrown at them in the person of Joe Hatten. George Mauer or Howie Pollet will hurl for St. Louis.

The Dodgers will have the moral and mayhap the vocal support of Leo Durocher, their exiled manager, who is in town to talk "business" with prexy Branch Rickey. The Lip naturally is reluctant to discuss baseball, but he makes no bones about missing the game and wanting to be back with his "ferocious gentlemen."

At Boston last night, the Cardinals were rained out again, along with all other major league outposts. In the next couple of weeks the Dodgers will be able to get a rough idea of whether their new pitchers are going to be able to make up for the loss of Kirby Hiege and Hank Behrman, sold to Pittsburgh. The Brooklyn players themselves seem to think the deal was a good one for the club, but the Flatbush fans are wondering which hurlers are going to be able to make up for the 28 victories turned in by Hiege and Hank last year.

Dodgers Want Mize

Now that Brooklyn has started to unload its excess talent, the New York Giants are renewing their efforts to acquire a worthwhile pitcher or two from the Dodgers. The rub here is that Brooklyn wants Johnny Mize, the big first baseman who has smacked eight homers in 12 games. The Brooklyn brain trust figures that the Giants can get

Sewell Planning 'Blooper' Pitch Higher Than Ever

With Ceiling Off Sewell Says "My Blooper Will Go Higher Than Before"

By JIMMY JORDAN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

PITTSBURGH, May 6.—Truett Banks Sewell will continue to throw that famous "Blooper Ball" of his, and he'll throw it higher than ever this season.

"I can throw it as high as I want to, now that the OPA ceiling is off on everything but rents," the big red-head said.

"I've added almost a foot to it this year."

Just how effective it will be, however, is somewhat of a moot question around the National League.

Began In 1943
Rip came out with it in 1943. It was, he said, about the only invention in baseball since Abner Doubleday started the game more than 100 years ago. Sewell said:

"Like the pass in football, it was about the only thing new to the game. The rest were improvements on things already in existence in the game."

Four seasons ago it not only was a thrill and a laugh for the fans, but it was more than somewhat devastating to batters crouched at the plate watching for fast balls, curves or sliders. They broke their backs trying to hit it. Eppie Miller of Cincinnati was notably weak on that one.

Used Very Little
Since then, the hitters appear to be catching up to it, and he's used it but sparingly in the three games he's pitched this season.

"But I intend to keep using it when I see a spot where I can drop it," he says. "Like I did in the 1944 all-star game."

In that one, Rip became the first pitcher ever to go the full three-inning route in the mid-summer classic without giving up a hit. He got George McQuinn with two of the bloopers to end his stint.

Usually Swing
Sewell conceived the idea of the blooper while pitching batting practice for the Pirates in the spring of 1943.

He lobbed a few of the high ones over the plate "just for fun." He had an arc of about 24 feet on the ball. He explained:

"They almost fell down trying to hit it," he said. "I found that I could get it over the plate so it was called a strike if they didn't swing. But they usually did."

"Then in an exhibition game with the Cubs, Dom Dallessandro smacked my fast one for a double."

"I got to thinking that maybe if my own mates couldn't hit it, perhaps nobody else could. I tried it on Dallessandro the next time he came up and he struck out."

That's where the blooper was born. It's been effective and popular. Perhaps it may be losing its effectiveness, but it still will be used, Sewell said.

Consistory To Have Family Party Here On Friday Evening

Last Of Season's Series Of Parties Before Reunion To Be Held In The Cathedral

On Friday evening the last of the season's series of parties for members of the Valley of New Castle Consistory and their families will take place in the Cathedral, it was announced today by Commander-in-Chief Ill. Welly O. Rugh.

This will follow the same pattern as the preceding parties, the main program starting at 8:15 o'clock. As the crowd gathers, there will be music and shorts in the auditorium, starting at 7:30 o'clock.

After the entertainment, there will be a picture in the auditorium, and dancing in the ballroom for devotees of the terpsichorean art.

Bob Feller stands to make about $200,000 from his various enterprises this year. In addition to tooting the rubber for the Indians upon occasion, he has a radio program. Plans another post-season barnstorming tour. And already has sold 200,000 copies of his new book.

Only two members, Pitcher Fred Bankston and Third Baseman Frankie Hebert, will be missing from Louisiana State's 1946 Southeastern Conference baseball championship when the Tiger willow wavers officially begin practice.

along with Babe Young covering first base, but New York doesn't. Several managers already are getting desperate enough to try anything to improve their clubs, from taking the rubber off the bank roll to shifting their players all over the diamond. The New York Yankees, for instance, plan to put outfielder Yogi Berra behind the plate today, and the Giants may try to switch and the Giants may try to switch and the Giants may try to switch.

Victims of the act were the Cleveland Indians.

Johnny Neun, Cincinnati Reds manager, pulled off an unassisted triple play back in 1927 while playing first base for the Detroit Tigers. Victims of the act were the Cleveland Indians.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—(INS)—After only a four-day honeymoon, Nancy Guild and Charles Russell have been brought back to work making screen love to somebody else.

For brother Zanuck's "Off to Buffalo," Nancy will have the camera caresses of Dan Dailey, who made his Hollywood debut making love to Betty Grable.

Charlie will have 17-year-old Barbara Lawrence in his arms for the purpose of the plot.

In real life, Dan is not only married but they're expecting a baby. And Barbara will marry John Fontaine in July.

Incidentally, it should be pointed out that Barbara's career is really getting under way. A native of Kansas City, Mo., she came to Hollywood with her mother when she was 14.

A slim blonde beauty, she took to modeling and was discovered by a studio talent scout.

In the past three years she has been in four pictures, her best assignment before her current one being in "Margie."

Right now Zanuck is trying to borrow her for "The Hagen Girl." Barbara doesn't care what kind of roles she plays as long as they're good.

Lon McCallister has put his Malibu Beach home up for sale.

The 20th Century-Fox star plans to sell the cottage as soon as he completes work in his current technical film, "Scudda Hoo, Scudda Hay." But not before, because the picture is shooting on location only a few miles from Malibu.

Lon purchased the property about three years ago, after his first starring role. He is now giving it up because it is too big for him to live there alone. He recently bought a Hollywood apartment house for his parents and grandparents, and will rent from them until he can build a small house for himself closer to the studio.

Cornel Wilde and wife Patricia Knight are having six houses of furniture—ranging from 16th century to modern styles—auctioned at a Beverly Hills gallery.

Within the last five years Cornel, who has just wound up his role in "Forever Amber," and his wife have owned and furnished six houses. As they sold each one, the Wildes stored the furniture.

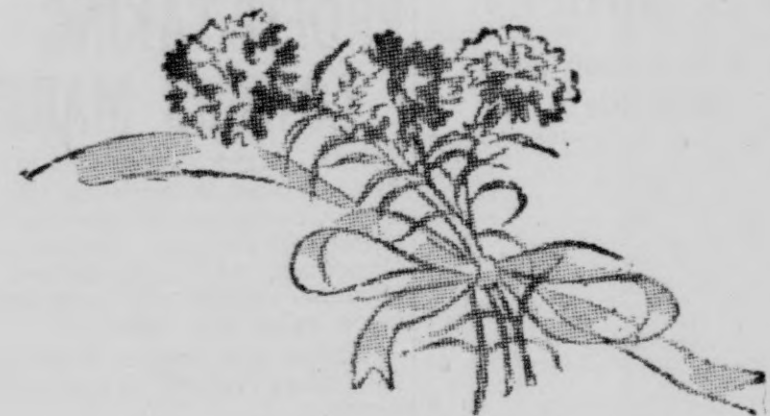

Bulgarian Sends
Thanks For Gifts

Joyce McEwen, 1024 Beckford street, junior Red Cross worker of the city, was the recipient today of a "thank-you" letter from Albert S. Mayer of Sofia, Bulgaria for gifts he received from the local chapter.

Mr. Mayer, who is a law student and acting professor at the University of Sofia, said that his people will be forever grateful for the material gifts sent from America. Trapped in his country when the Germans entered in 1942, he fled into exile until 1944 when the nation was liberated.

Mr. Mayer said that his greatest desire is to come to the United States to continue his studies.

China's hairnet industry is carried on by women who work in their own homes.
